Private Reader Wounded.

Private Howard Reader, former member of Steamer 1 of Albany, was wounded while in action, according to a letter received by his fellow members at the fire house. The wound was caused by a bursting shell, which struck the right side of his face, knocking out three teeth. In his letter he commends the work of the French for the way in which they kept up their spirits during the period when the Germans were near Paris, and for the wonderful work they accomplished while the soldiers were at the front. Private Reader enlisted with "A" company, Fifty-first Pioneer regiment, and went to Spartanburg for training. He sailed for France in May. His letter follows:

"I suppose you think that I have forgotten you but that is not the case. Every time I started to write something went wrong. I don't know whether you read it in the papers or heard of it, but I got hit with a piece of shell that struck me on the right side of the face and passed through it, knocking out three teeth.

"France is a wonderful country, and the people are all hard workers. Their morale is wonderful and even in times when the situation is serious their spirits are always hopeful ones.

"I was in the army that on September 29 smashed through the Hindenburg line, and it was some scrap. There were guns of all kinds used but the biggest factor on both sides were the machine guns. Fritz did send over some big ones and it kept us busy ducking into shell holes all the while. If I was to tell you that there is not enough loose dirt around a shell hole to cover you, you would say that I was crazy, but it is so.

"I have seen some great sights and I can tell you things that will open your eyes and make you wonder how they happened. I have seen by the papers that the armistice is signed and that peace is near. I suppose that they will send us home in the near future."
